

Chicago Stories

VIOLENCE

and the Ethics of Urban Health Care

A one-day conference that asks

"Violence is contagious—can medicine help find a cure?"

With panels, neighborhood storytellers, and lectures by

Oscar M. Ruebhausen Visiting Professor

Alex Kotlowitz

and

Dorothy Roberts, JD

Friday, September 25, 2009

Northwestern University Feinberg School of Medicine
Robert H. Lurie Medical Research Center
303 E. Superior Street

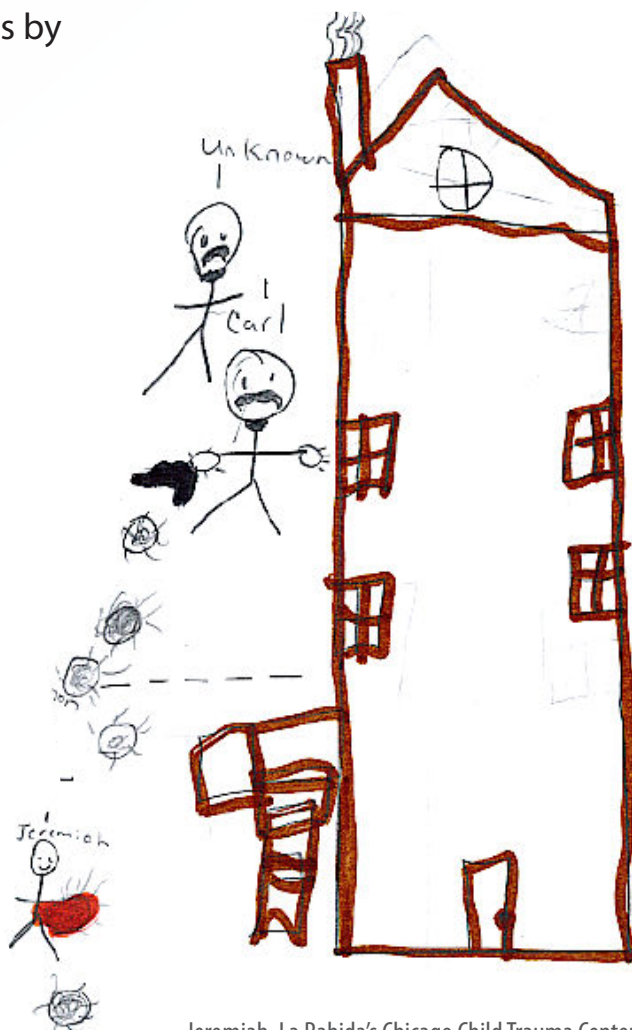

Free and open to the public.

Complete schedule and online registration at <http://bioethics.northwestern.edu/chicagostories/>

Sponsored by

Northwestern's Medical Humanities & Bioethics Program
Northwestern's Center for Bioethics, Science, & Society
RIC's Donnelley Family Disability Ethics Program
Erie Family Health Center

with a grant from The Greenwall Foundation

Jeremiah, La Rabida's Chicago Child Trauma Center